PayLater and Ministry of Interior Qatar Sign MOU to Integrate Flexible Payments into MOI App

Landmark partnership brings Sharia-compliant, interest-free payment options to government services

DOHA, QATAR (January 2026) — PayLater, a leading buy-now-pay-later fintech platform, and the Ministry of Interior (MOI) Qatar today announced the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) at Web Summit Qatar 2026.

Partnership Highlights:

- PayLater to be integrated directly into the MOI Qatar mobile application
- Citizens and residents gain flexible payment options for government services
- 100% Sharia-compliant with zero fees and zero interest
- Supports Qatar's digital transformation and financial inclusion goals

This collaboration represents a significant milestone in Qatar's digital transformation journey. By embedding innovative, Sharia-compliant fintech solutions within government platforms, MOI Qatar demonstrates its commitment to enhancing public service delivery and improving the citizen experience through technology.

"Partnering with the Ministry of Interior is a tremendous honor. Our 100% Sharia-compliant platform with zero fees and zero interest will bring ethical financial flexibility to millions of users accessing government services, supporting Qatar's vision of a digitally empowered and financially inclusive society."

— Dr. Devid Jegerson, CEO, PayLater
